In this way, millions of pores are opened by the removal of stagnant water in deep under-drains, and chemical effects are produced of the greatest benefit to the soil and its cultivator. The earth within thirty inches of the surface on an acre of land, weighs on an average three thousand tons. A few pounds of ammonia, or phosphoric acid, lime, potash or suiphuric acid added to this large mass of soil and subsoil have often doubled the erop. This fact encourages the belief that we have only to develop a small percentage of plant-food in the ground by better tillage, and ditching when necessary, to add largely to our harvests without applying any manure. Give the thousands of capillary tubes called roots, that grow out from one germ, all proper facilities to lengthen themselves, multiply their mouths and take in nourishment, and little or no manure will be required to produce a satisfactory crop. Good manure represents an equivalent amount of force or labor. In either case it is force; and very often the labor that draws water out of the ground, and draws in carbonic acid to feed plants, and eliminates alkalies and use commercial fertilizers. Labor in ox flesh, made from the best perennial grasses and clovers, (cow grass,) is the cheapest tillage power to work land deeper and better than is now done. Help the roots of plants.

A few pounds of ammonia, or Wool Growing a Success.

We are asked why woolgrowers do a double compound—a perpetual growth and no loss. Everything that does not go into market goes back to enrich the pasture; and though the landlord may be sick it does not stop the growth of the lambs. Not so with other business. The mechanic or the man who works for salary has nothing to grow while he sleeps; when his labor ceases his income stops, and his expenses are perpetual. Hence he is growing poorer more than one-half the time; if he puts in 312 days! labor a year, and taking his lost time in changing business, sickness, holidays and hours of recreation, he is lucky if he squares his bills and has a few dollars to pay the undertaker on the last round. It is true there are perpetual expenses attending the sheep or goat business; but under the most unfavorable circumstances, where they can live on the commons without feeding, the meat of the wethers will pay all expenses without drawing on the wool or inwithout drawing on the wool or increase of the ewes. Hence it is like a perpetual stream flowing into a basin; it is only a question of time about filling it to overflow. The drawback seems to be that men do not relish absence from thickly penulated set.

That which protects from or prevents this disorder must be of immense service in the communities where it prevails. Prevention is better than cure; for the patient escapes the risk which he must run in violent attacks of this baleful distemper. This "CURE" expels the miasmatic poison of Fever and Ague from the system, and prevents the development of the disease, if taken on the first approach of its premonitory symptoms. A reat superiority of this remedy over any other ever discovered for the speedy and certain cure of Intermittents is, that it contains no Quinine or mineral; consequently it produces no quinism or other injurious effects whatever upon the constitution. Those cured by it are left as healthy as if they had never Fever and Ague is not alone the consequence of the miasmatic poison. A great variety of disorders arise from its irritation, among which are Neugalgia, Rheuma-tism, Gout, Headache, Blindness, Toothache, Earache, Catarrh, Asth ma, Palpitation, Painful Affection of the Spleen, Hysterics, Pain in the Bowels, Colic, Paralysis, and derangement of the Stomach, all of which, when originating in this cause, put on the intermittent type, or become periodical. This "CURE" expels the poison from the blood, and consequently cures them all alike. It is an invaluable protection to immigrants and persons travelling or temporarily residing in the malarious districts. If taken occasionally or daily while exposed to the infection, that will be excreted from the system, and cannot accumulate in sufficient quantity to ripen into disease. Hence it is even more valuable for protection than cure; and few will ever suffer from Intermittents if they avail themselves of the protection this rem edy affords. For Liver Complaints, arising from torpid-LIGON & ELY. ity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy ulating the Liver into healthy activity, and producing many truly remarkable cures where other medicines fail. PREPARED BY Clarksville, Tennessee.
